Alvarado Now “Sweeter” Than Ever Company adds products to popular construction search network

Chino, CA – July 14, 2010 – Alvarado, a leading provider of entry control turnstiles, admission systems, asset protection and queuing solutions has added its product portfolio to www.sweets.com – a top tool used by architects, engineers and design consultants.

Committed to making it easier and quicker for architects, engineers, designers and integrators to find the right product for any application, the company chose to add its product data to the popular web site.

“We already feature hundreds of technical drawings, 3-part specifications and data sheets on our company site, www.alvaradomfg.com,” says Alvarado CEO and president, Bret Armatas. “However, we know that architects, engineers and consultants sometimes prefer a single source to research all their project requirements, and that sweets.com is that source. Adding our product to the Sweets database was just another way for us to make it easier for them to find and specify our solutions.”

Sweets.com provides architects, engineers and specifiers easy access to technical product information that can be used to create drawings and draft bid specifications. Installers and integrators can gain access to the same product information and manufacturer data in order to research bid specifications and identify suppliers. Users can search for Alvarado products by keyword, product category or Master Format identification number.
